Corresontance of The Thoune.

Percentrals, Wednesday Evening, Sept. 18, 1844. My last letter was closed at noon this day, at sightime, probably, the Fair might be said to be substitute, probably, the Fair might be said to be substitute, probably, the Fair might be said to be substitute, probably, the Fair might be said to be substitute, probably, the Fair might be said to be that the names of Poughkeepsie people are more frequently met with than any others in this said, and so continued till 5 o'clock, when it be magnificent display of Horticultural Art. But the sens, and so continued till 5 o'clock, when it beon to diminish, and at sun-set the enclosure was Squashes and Pumpkins are worthy of Yankee Land, and I thought I saw here and there a glistening among the crowds that stopped to gaze at their huge proportions. Cathoge-heads also are largely developed, but I am not familiar enough with them to decide whether this is their best mark. The Physhyna had a manufacent display of Dablias ceared. It is estimated that from 25 to 30,000 people passed through the gates in the course of the lay, and I am confident that this estimation was too be rather than too high. The sight of such a mulends of human faces was of itself, to use a trite shows, "worth ten times the price of a ticket," and long journey to this place. Notwithstanding the dense throng which filled the enclosure, the most perfect order prevailed through the day. Much stellt is due to the Committee of Arrangements for the means so judiciously adopted to secure this plasing result; but still more is to be ascribed to kinds. to street sence of propriety which governed the notements of the people, and without which such arrangements would be of little use. No intoxicaing liquer was sold within the enclosure, though contiess much was sold and drunk elsewhere.

If I had a dozen pairs of eyes and cars and s many tongues and hands, with the power of using the whole at once, it would be scarcely possible to describe all the beautiful articles in the Fair. I can saly note brisdy, I fear in some instances inaccu-nicly, those which may be deemed of most impor-

tiful, if not the most useful, in the narrow sense of that term, is the Horticultural Department. Its appropriate sign, over the entrance, made from the leaves of the evergreen, and sprinkled with flowers. is a sign not only of the exhibition within the build ing, but of the good taste in which the arrangements are made. Art here has given her hand to Nature, and the products of both are so commingled as to present a beautiful whole, while each is represented, and neither lost, though neither is made preëminent. The place does not look like a well-filled burn, or even a fruit shop, as such places sometimes do on such occasions, but attention has been given to arrangement and effect, that to the thousands who pass through the building, a scene is presented which delights every one, in a way that mere heapoffruits and bouquets of flowers slone can not do. There is nothing dazzling or glaring, but that happy tombination is produced—the triumph of Art— which creates at once the sensation of the beautiful, and soothes rather than excites by the exquisite laste which has placed every thing where heither thought nor instruct detects the falseness of its position. Fine longer, too, one remains here, the greater is the satisfaction; for strict and minute examination will discover the shades of arrangement and color-ing which give so beautiful an effect to the whole. It is impossible in the limited space to which I must restrict avself, to give any thing like a des-enpion of this department of the Fair: I cas only give a hasty glauce at its general appearance, with-out pratending to descend to particulars, though my horsare tell enough to full the columns of your paper with a description not only of the arrangements, but with the names of the contributors of various Frats, Flowers and Vegetables, such us second most hots worthy, though, indeed, where there is so much to admire, it is no easy thing to make the degrees of comparison. It must soften me to say that I have have any where seen a finer display of fruit and regetables not even in the Boston Horticultural Exhibitions, so deservedly celebrated for their ex-

e-lience. The Peaches are of the largest, and most jusciously rips, and in great variety; Plums and Nectarines with most unblemished skins; Pears.

He entreased them to enter the contest with zeal and enthusiasm, but as they valued the sucreduess of their cause. or as they valued the sucredness of their cause and the stability of their principles, to resort to no orfair means; that an honorable defeat was bette than a dishonorable victory.

Mr. Fillmore revired smidthe cheers of those who came to great him. The people then marched to the American Hotel, where they gave three cheers. for Cassins M. Ciay, when the audience were dis-missed with minds refreshed with new ardor and devotion to their cause and country, and with a rene d resolution to achieve a glorious victory.

ARREST .- Our vigilant and active police officer fraham, succeeded in arresting on Friday last, at the Railroad depot, a felon from St. Louis, by the name of Joseph Hatwood. He is said to have made DHENIX MILL, SHRETINGS-76 by ex for sale by ADAMS, TIFFANY & CO. 75 Pine st. his escape from the State Prison of Missouri, is which he had been senienced for 5 years for knockne down and robbing a man of $600; was again me down and robbing carried back on board of steamboat, asked leave to go into the water closet; he there soaped his ankles, drew off the shackles and let himself into the river, through the aperture in the boat, and swam ashors. An efficer from St. in the boat, and swam ashors. An officer from St. Louis was on his way West in the cars from Schenectady in search of another fugitive, when he recognized Harwood as a fellow passeager. On arriving here they met in the car-house, and some words passing between them, the officer having announced his intention of arresting him, Harwood drew a Spanish knife, and made several desperate passes at the officer, but fortunately missed him. At this moment, Mr. Graham, who was near, amounced himself as a police officer, and commanded. Harwood to desist, and started to throw himself between them.—Harwood immediately started down the Rail. wood to designal started to the what is them—Harwood immediately started down the Railroad, with the officer at his side, striving to seize him, but being prevented by the desperate thrusts made at him by the former with his knife. Mr Graham immediately started to pursuit; and soon came up behind Harwood, and throwing his arms that the started to the ground. Harwood. around him, they both fell to the ground. Harwood having the advantage of position, might have released himself with a blow of his knife, but before any thing of the kind was attempted, a crowd came up, and he was secured. He is now in Whiteshorough juil on the charge of assault and battery with intent to kill; but will doubtless be reclaimed by the Executive of Missouri before be can be tried here. He may, however, avoid both by escaping from jail in the mean time, as he has shown himself a desperate and cunning rogue. [Utica Observer.

AN EDITOR KILLED .- It is with the deepest pain that we learn of the death, in a violent manner, o LEONARD GIRRON, Esq. Editor of the Smithland (Kv.) Bee. Our accounts are only from hearsay. (Ky.) Bee. Our accounts are only from hearsay, and are in some respects quite contradictory. One statement is to the effect that, on account of a political quartel with a Dr. Sayder, growing out of a new-paper paragraph, he was shot down by that person while walking in the street with his little daughter. Another statement is, that on account of the before-mentioned quartel, threats had passed between them, and subsequently meeting in the street, a fight took place, in which several pistols were discharged, and the tragical result above stated brought a fight took place, in which several pistols were dis-charged, and the tragical resultabove stated brought about. We knew Mr. Gibbon well. He was for-merly one of the owners of the 'Dime;' and when we purchased this establishment, he continued in our employ for some time as for man; and we can aver, that we were never acquainted with a milder, more peaceable, quiet and inoffensive man. We never could have imagined that he would have met his death in such a manner. A noble soul has thus been sacrificed to party feeling—a prop thus taken been sacrificed to party feeling—a prop thus taken from a dependent family. [Louisville Courier.

CONTINUED HEALTH OF THE CITY.—The last weekly Bill of Morsality presents the remarkable fact of but 6 deaths, 5 of which were black and colored children, 4 of which were under 5 years of sgc. and not one white nor a case of fever. We doubt whether the Bill of Mortality of any other city in the United States, of the same numbers, can exhibit a parallel result. [Charleston l'at. Sept. 16.

Deeker Isdicted.—We hear that Decker, the Staten Island prof, who prevented a verticit against the moman Bodine, because he had "conscientious scruples against taking life," has been indicted by the grand jury of Richmond County, for middensenor in escaping from the custody of the sheriff by jumping out of the jury room window, while Bodine was on trial.
